After long time im decide to create Drupal web for support gain some more networking skills. This solution can share ideas and training topologies created by me during self study networking technology. I hope that this approach is useful also for other people around the world preparing for industrial certification or only for your private interest on this knowledge segment. Because this is my first blog content and also first greater web project your opinions are invited. Take this short article as beginning of greater discussion how extend web or how spread their content for other networker, hobbieist or graphicers.
